

A LASTING LEGACY

Non Profit
Organisation

KMA

We would all like to leave this world knowing that we are passing on something special to the people and the causes that we care about, and what better way than to leave a legacy of hope for young children as they start out in life. A legacy is called a bequest and it is a testimony to your personal values. No matter how small or how big, each legacy contributes towards the future of KMA.

Supporters of any age can complete a codicil and attach it to their will. All bequests are exempt from estate duty and the codicil is a legal document which you complete yourself and attach to your own will. You may amend the codicil at any stage and it remains a private matter between yourself and your solicitor. You can bequeath an amount in cash, a fixed amount or a percentage of your residual estate, or you can bequeath a specific asset, such as a piece of land or musical instrument or valuable collectors' item to be sold in aid of KMA.

YOUR SUPPORT IS UNBELIEVABLY APPRECIATED

If 2 000 supporters left just R500 to KMA in their will, it would add up to one million Rand . Such is the power of the collective.

It would be wonderful to have the chance to thank you in person, so should you choose to leave a bequest please mention this to us so that we can then discuss how you would like the money to be spent in order to honour your wishes.
